It is never too early to learn what is expected of your sons and daughters in kindergarten.

Whether your child is five-years old and anticipating kindergarten or two-and-a-half years old and just learning to be independent, you're invited to this special program.

Parents must be equipped with information so they can provide the preparation and support that is needed for this very important transition in their child's life.

The panel for the evening program will include Asst. Superintendents from Glen Ellyn public schools. Valuable insight from administrators, the expectations for your children, an understanding of a 'typical day,' school curriculum, and the school's enrollment process will be discussed.
